CHANGE OF HEART

1 Prabhat always wanted to win.

2 His parents, teachers, and friends said that he did not know how to accept defeat.

3 The fact was that he could not bear losing, not even at marbles.

4 He felt so good when he won that he never wanted to give up that feeling.

5 On the contrary, losing made him feel terrible.

6 He thought that losing was the worst thing that could happen to anyone.

CHANGE OF HEART

1 If Prabhat sensed that he would lose a game, he would not play it.

2 He would take part only when he was sure of winning, even if the game lasted only for a minute.

3 You could not stop him from playing the kind of games he was really good at, like badminton.

4 A new student joined Prabhat's school, and his name was Surya.

5 Surya was an excellent badminton player.

6 Prabhat waited for the last Friday of the month.

CHANGE OF HEART

1 Last Friday was significant. This was when the coach conducted friendly matches in the games period.

2 The teams were decided on Monday and it was no surprise when Prabhat and Surya were chosen to play a round against each other.

3 Prabhat was given the responsibility of keeping score for their match.

4 On one hand, Prabhat prepared for the match with great seriousness.

5 Surya, on the other hand, seemed relaxed, not taking the things seriously at all.

1 He walked about the whole time, smiling and cracking jokes about all sorts of things.

2 But on Friday, at the badminton court, Surya was a real phenomenon.

3 He won points again and again, laughing and joking all the time.

4 However, Surya was paying so little attention to the match that Prabhat managed to change the scoreboard while his opponent was looking elsewhere.

5

6 Prabhat managed to win by cheating. He made a big thing of his win, but it did not matter to Surya.

1 "It's been fun. We should play again some other time," said Surya.

2 On that day, everyone was discussing their game and how Prabhat had played so well.

3 Surprisingly, Prabhat could not sleep well that night.

4 He had won the game but he did not feel as happy as he usually did.

5 What was surprising was that Surya did not feel bad about losing.

6 What was more surprising was that Prabhat saw Surya playing basketball the next day.

1

Surya was so hopeless at it that he could not score a basket for ten minutes.

2

Yet, he enjoyed playing the game. His happy smile never left his face.

3

Prabhat kept a close watch on Surya for some days.

4

He was great at some things, terrible at others but what was common was the enjoyment.

CHANGE OF HEART

1 As Prabhat went on with his observation, he realised that to enjoy a game, you did not need a scoreboard to keep a tally of your scores.

2 Neither did you have to worry about winning or losing.

3 You needed to enjoy the game for its own sake.

4 What matters is trying to do well, and enjoying every moment of it.

5 Prabhat learnt something through his observations every day, soon realising the change in himself. He had even begun playing hide and seek,

6 and felt sad whenever it was about to end. He also started joking while playing badminton.

Soon, the other students started talking amongst themselves,

3

"Good fun playing with Prabhat, that fellow definitely has a great sporting spirit."
